It will reach Chennai Port and is expected to reach Bengaluru's Hebbagodi depot by road before Makara Sankranti (January 15), said a senior BMRCL official. The Communications Based Train Control (CBTC or driverless technology) train was supposed to start by November 20, following the visit of a BMRCL team to China to expedite the process. However, this deadline could not be met. A total of 65 Chinese technical staff from CRRC await work visas to work for BMRCL in India. "Their expertise is required to help in testing and operating the first train, while a majority of them are required to guide

Another official said it was crucial that the first train be sent so that the much-delayed trial run can begin for the RV Road-Bommasandra Line (Yellow Line, Reach-5) via Electronic City. "The first batch of 21 technical staff received their visas on Saturday. A decision has been taken to send them first, along with the train. The rest can follow later," he said. There was no point in the CBTC train reaching here without the expertise required to operate it, the official explained, adding, "It has a state-of-the-art signalling system and we have not handled it. Moreover, the train is covered under a warranty period which would be applicable only if the CRRC staff assist us." The shells of two other trains from China, which have reached Titagarh, also required Chinese expertise to complete them.

Cook County Health Gala

On the elegant evening of Wednesday, October 25, 2023, I had the distinct pleasure of attending the prestigious Cook County Health Foundation Gala, aptly themed "New Era of Health Equity." This gala not only exemplified the convergence of influential figures but also provided a platform for crucial discussions and recognitions within the realm of healthcare and community well-being.

The atmosphere at the gala was transformed by the enchanting sounds of Jazz that reverberated throughout the venue, elevating the evening into a truly distinguished affair. The ambiance created by the music set the perfect backdrop for the unfolding events and conversations that would shape the night. During the course of the evening, I had the honor of meeting several distinguished elected officials, among them the esteemed Cook County President, Toni Preckwinkle. Her presence added to the aura of significance surrounding the event, and as the program commenced, President Preckwinkle took the stage to shed light on the various initiatives spearheaded by Cook County Health in addressing health disparities.

A highlight of the gala was the presentation of the Ruth Rothstein Award to Jerry Reinsdorf, chairperson of the Chicago Bulls. This esteemed award recognized his outstanding contributions to healthcare, particularly his advocacy for addressing health disparities in marginalized communities. The Ruth Rothstein CORE Clinic, a pivotal institution in the prevention, care, and research of HIV/AIDS and infectious diseases, celebrated a 14-year milestone during the gala, symbolizing a longstanding commitment to public health.

In a poignant moment, Jerry Reinsdorf shared insights into his background and passionately raised awareness about the health disparities affecting Black and Brown communities. His departure was met with resounding applause, reflecting the collective appreciation for his advocacy efforts.

Following this impactful segment, the gala seamlessly transitioned into a networking session, allowing attendees to engage in meaningful conversations while enjoying the soulful melodies of the jazz band. This fusion of camaraderie, music, and the exchange of ideas contributed to the overall warmth and significance of the evening.

As I reflect on this beautiful night of fellowship surrounding health equity, I am inspired by the collective commitment to addressing healthcare disparities. The Cook County Health Foundation Gala served not only as a celebration of milestones and achievements but also as a testament to the ongoing pursuit of a future where health equity is a reality for all. I eagerly anticipate attending many more Cook County Health events in the future, where the spirit of collaboration and advocacy continues to thrive.

Dr. Tonia Winston Sermon ay New Nazareth M.B. Church

"On a Sunday to Remember: A Soulful Experience at Dr. Tonia Winston's Empowering Sermon on Women's Day On the memorable Sunday of November 19, 2023, I was privileged to partake in the enlightening sermon, "Women Have We Lost Our Souls," delivered by the esteemed Dr. Tonia Winston at the New Nazareth M.B. Winston graciously introduced me to the distinguished ministry leaders, Sister Khalilah Havnes and Sister Dr. Glennell Conaway. Their warm reception created an immediate sense of sisterhood and fellowship that lingered throughout the day. The atmosphere was charged with camaraderie and mutual respect.

The event unfolded with the ethereal melodies of the youth choir, whose angelic voices resonated within the church, filling the air with love and joy. Rev. Dr. Jarvis J. Hanson, the pastor, extended a welcoming gesture to all new members, a group that now included me. Standing to acknowledge my presence, I was enveloped in a wave of warm hugs and radiant smiles, instantly fostering a feeling of belonging within the church family.

As anticipation filled the room for Dr. Tonia Winston's sermon, a profound silence underscored the reverence and admiration held for her. U.S. House Passes Legislation Championed By Congressman Krishnamoorthi To Strengthen The U.S.-India Defense Partnership Through Expanded Cooperation In Areas Including Research, Training, Contracting, And Intelligence

WASHINGTON – In response to the Thursday passage of the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), which included provisions to "enhance major defense partnership" between the United States and India and to "ensure that India is appropriately considered for cooperative defense activities consistent with the status of India as a major defense partner," Congressman Krishnamoorthi issued the following statement:

"I was proud to champion efforts to pass this legislation to support American security including commitments provisions to strengthen our defense partnership with India through expanded opportunities for cooperation in research and development, training, intelligence, counterterrorism, and military contracting. As we take the steps necessary to win the strategic competition with the Chinese Communist Party and maintain the security of the Indo-Pacific region against aggression, it is essential that we strengthen our ties to our allies and security partners, including through the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue. Strengthening the U.S.-India partnership and ensuring India is properly considered for cooperative defense activities will not only bring greater security to the world's largest democracy and its oldest, but also to the wider world." Cooperative defense activities for which India will be considered with the passage of the NDAA into law include eligibility for funding for joint research and development, testing, training, and for Indian entities to bid on contracts for Department of Defense equipment outside of the United States. Further, > the provisions allow for the United States and India to enter into agreements for bilateral and multilateral training to build capacity in activities including military intelligence, counterterrorism, anti-drug trafficking, maritime security, and air domain awareness. Separately, the NDAA includes the Indo-Pacific Maritime Domain Awareness Initiative which would establish a partnership with allies and partners of the United States, including Australia, Japan, and India, which would "bolster maritime domain awareness in the Indo-Pacific region" to strengthen regional maritime security and cooperation. The inclusion of provisions to strengthen the United States' partnership with India in the annual defense act follows a policy recommendation to expand such ties, which was passed by the House Select Committee on the Strategic Competition between the United States and the Chinese Communist Party earlier this year under Congressman Krishnamoorthi's leadership as the committee's Ranking Member.

MIZORAM: The Land of Blue Mountains

C. Zonunmawia Political Analyst & Commentator

The Land of the Mountains My grandmother used to tell us a bedtime story of how her village, Hualtu, was burnt down all the villagers were displaced. They had to move to a new grouping centre called Baktawng village in 1967. This was when the Indian government under Indira Gandhi introduced "grouping of villages" as a counter measure to weaken the MNF freedom movement. The trouble lasted 20 years until a Memorandum of Understanding (also known as the Mizo Peace Accord) was signed in 1986. Both my grandparents' and my parents' generations' imagery of the Indian State was quite violent as they had to face many challenges in the midst of the brutal confrontation between the Indian security forces and the Mizo National Front (MNF) rebels. After my grandfather-a founder member of the United Mizo Freedom Organisation (UMFO)-passed away in 1998, I went through his old files stored in a wooden box. There was an interesting memo in there which highlights the dilemmas of the people in the erstwwhile Lushai Hills on the brink of Indian independence in

No dating apps for Kriti, who believes in 'old-school' love

Dating apps are a complete 'No' for actress Kriti Sanon, who is gearing up for her upcoming film 'Crew'.

The National Award-winning actress is set to appear on the streaming chat show 'No Filter Neha', where she made the revelation that she is quite "oldschool" when it comes to the subject of love.

In the latest promo of 'No Filter Neha', Kriti can be seen giving audiences a peek into her personal life, as she made some revelations about her ideal partner.

The actress said, "I have told everybody around me that if you have anybody in mind please let me know. I can't do dating apps, I am a bit old school that way. I believe in effort, gesture and romance." She further mentioned, "I need someone who is honest, loyal, extremely loving, and tall. I am not describing 7-8 men, it's just one guy. I just need a robot I guess. Am I asking for too much, these are just the basics."

'No Filter Neha' season 6, is available to stream on JioTV and JioTV+ with new episodes dropping every Thursday.
